

CLIHC 2015 (co-located with ISA '15)

Nov 18-21, 2015, Cordoba, Argentina

Graduate Colloquium

CLIHC 2015 is the bi-annual conference that aims to bring together the Latin American HCI community. The graduate colloquium is an event aimed at graduate students (masters and doctoral students) who are working in areas related to Human-Computer Interaction. The goal behind the event is obtaining valuable feedback from prominent researchers in the area. The graduate colloquium will take place on one day during the CLIHC 2015 at Cordoba, Argentina.

Aims of the graduate colloquium

- To offer students with the opportunity to share and discuss their work before experienced researchers.
- To promote collaboration among graduate students across different universities in Latin America

Graduate colloquium

Each student will be presenting her or his work before a panel of researchers for 15 minutes. After that, there will be a 5 minute Q&A session aimed at providing constructive feedback to the student. Finally, another 5 minutes will be allocated to questions from the audience. The panel of researchers is TBA.

Submissions

Submissions (up to 2 pages) must be written in English using the ACM Conference Proceedings format (<http://bit.ly/1GEAq5g>). Please make sure that your submission includes the following sections or information: Introduction, related work, research questions or objectives, methodology, status of research, and expected results. Also please state how far you are in your research (e.g., first year student). Accepted contributions will be included in the CLIHC 2015 Extended Proceedings. Contributions must be submitted via EasyChair (<https://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=clihc2015>) in Word format only.
